

Report - World Science Day 2024
Special morning assembly

Our school celebrated World Science Day during the morning assembly, fostering a spirit of curiosity and innovation. Three student-scientists, dressed as Albert Einstein, Isaac Newton, and Thomas Edison, presented their scientists' groundbreaking contributions, making complex concepts engaging and accessible. The celebration culminated in a captivating dance performance, which showcased the importance of science in our daily lives, highlighting its interconnectedness with technology, engineering, and mathematics. The event inspired students to develop a deeper appreciation for science and its applications.
